ALLENSWORTH 'RELIES ON THE STABILITY OF COLDWELL BANKER'

Born into a veteran Los Angeles real estate brokerage family, Jim Allensworth's involvement in real estate spans over 25 years. A consistent top producer, he has earned numerous sales awards over the years. Since coming to Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage in 1995, Jim has obtained President's Club status each year.

"I rely on the stability of Coldwell Banker. It is a durable, strong and progressive company. Full service. No cutting corners. Respect and confidence," Jim said. "Real estate is a service industry. We are not just about client satisfaction – that is the minimum standard – we are about delivering excellence. And if you want repeat business, that's what you provide."

Over two thirds of Jim's business are either clients he has previously represented or new business referred to from established clients. Ethical standards are a top priority. Jim has served several times as a director on community association boards and serves the Orange County Association of REALTORS® as a long term member of the Professional Standards Committee.
